Good Deeds

On a visit to a hospital after the Civil War, Abraham Lincoln came upon a soldier, a lad still in his teens, who lay dying. Moved to deep compassion, the President bent down to ask the boy: "Can I do anything for you?" "Yes," the lad whispered, "you might hold by hand and see me through."

It is an edifying thought that the leader of a great nation gladly took time out to do a deed of kindness for a lowly fellow human being. That Abraham Lincoln's life was replete with such acts of charity and understanding does not diminish the value or importance of even the smallest of them.

The Bible says that not even a cup of water given in God's name will go unrewarded. Every act of kindness is a gesture of transcendent worth and beauty in the sight of God. This is not difficult to understand, since every good deed exemplifies the highest of all God's laws—love.

There is a story told about a certain rich man which clearly illustrates how immeasurably great a single deed of love may be.

Warned that his end was not far off, the rich man ordered everything he owned sold and the proceeds to be used to buy a large diamond that he could hold in the hollow of his hand and carry with him even in death.

After his instructions had been carried out, the man fell into a deep sleep and dreamed he stood before the gates of Paradise. To his great dismay, he found he had lost the diamond.

He related his loss to an angel at the gate who told him not to worry, that one good deed on earth would be worth far more to him than any amount of diamonds. When he heard this, the man grew even more disturbed. He confessed that he had no memory of any kind act done by him while on earth.

"Not even one?" the angel prodded.

"Well, I think," said the man, after some reflection, "I once dried an orphan's tear."

The angel smiled and replied: "That tear is laid up here for you. Behold it! It sparkles ten times more brilliantly in our sight than all your earthly jewels."

The man woke up at this point, and he was so impressed by the dream that he gave orders to have the diamond sold and the money distributed among the poor. Not long afterwards, it is related, he died in great peace of mind and soul.

Christianity and Racial Prejudice
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Discrepancies and inconsistencies are common among mortal men, but it is doubtful whether any discrepancy and inconsistency is deeper, persistent and more widespread than that between the racial and color-line prejudices and the plain teachings of the New Testament.

The Christian church began when the Master gathered around him the first disciples, but the Day of Pentecost has been commonly regarded as marking the beginning of its world organization (Acts 2). It was a racially conglomerate mass of people (Acts 2:9-11), who heard Peter that day and experienced the outpouring of the Spirit. There was no racial prejudice there.

Racial and religious prejudice soon met a testing time. Only a great vision convinced Peter that he should not call what God had cleansed "common and unclean" (Acts 10), and an angelic message led Philip into the Christian fold welcoming a black skinned Ethiopian. (Acts 8:26-39.)

But even these incidents with their plain teaching and implications did not prevent various prejudices among the early Christians as many passages in Paul's Epistles clearly show.

Greatest of all in the rebuke of racial and religious prejudice is the example of the Master himself in the famous incident of the meeting with the woman of Samaria, recorded in the fourth chapter of John's Gospel. Read in the light of its time and environment that story is remarkable in its revelation of how Jesus in His earthly life lived above the prejudices and even the customs, of the time and place.

The woman marvelled that Jesus, a Jew, should have asked a drink of her, for "the Jews have no dealings with the Samaritans." But she might have equally marvelled, as did the disciples when they returned from the city, that Jesus should have conversed with her at all. For it was against the custom for a man to meet and converse with a woman in a public place. The woman, moreover, was of none too savory a character.

Yet Jesus treated her with courtesy and kindness. If He pressed somewhat closely on her past and present moral situation, it was with gentleness of rebuke rather than harshness; and it was to her that He not only declared His Messiahship, but also uttered the greatest word concerning the true been spoken.

How is it that the example of ed to rise always above prejudices, ter generations of Christian have of brotherly love, to love one another as God has loved us, and its actual practice is very great, as the most casual observer must realize.

It is a discrepancy which must be eliminated.

Lions Governor At Lincoln Club

Robert P. Henry of Springfield, Lions governor of District 26B, was a special guest at the August meeting of the Lincoln Lions club which was opened with a dinner at the high school building last Monday evening.

Following the dinner the regular business meeting was held with Lions President Irvin Boring in charge of the evening's program and introducing the guest speaker, Mr. Henry, who spoke on the requirements and activities of such organizations and also gave a very interesting report on the Lions International convention which was held this year at Atlantic City, New Jersey and in his talk stated that he is making his annual visits, at this time to the various clubs over the district.

At the close of the meeting members retired to the site where work on the new fire station is now getting well under way and aided in doing concrete work there. The building will be a 16' by 30' structure and is being formed of concrete blocks.

Purported Payoff List is Found

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 31.—(P)—The discovery of a purported payoff list in a gambling raid on a handbook two years ago has been confirmed by police, who expressed belief it was planted by gamblers.

The finding of the list, first reported last Sunday by the Globe-Democrat, was confirmed by Chief of Police Jeremiah O'Connell in a written statement.

O'Connell said that in his opinion the list was "planted in order either to prevent a raid being carried out completely or to embarrass the board of police commissioners and the department."

The list carried the names of 13 policemen, but O'Connell said all of them denied at the time that they received a payoff. The list identified nine of them as members of police car crews, O'Connell said, whereas none of them had been assigned to patrol car duty for six years before the list was found.

The police chief, in his statement yesterday said he would tolerate no corruption in the police department from any source and added he doesn't intend to permit the names of police officers to be "dragged through the mud because criminals might try to frame them."

Shortly after the list was found in a box with $13,622 in cash and other papers, an investigation was made by Police Inspector Curtis Brostrom. The inspector also expressed belief the list was planted.

The evidence in the case was turned over to the circuit attorney's office, which decided a grand jury investigation was not warranted, O'Connell said.

Three Die in Bus-Truck Crash

KENOSHA, Wis., Aug. 31.—(P)—A Greyhound bus rammed into the rear of a semi-trailer truck last night on double-lane Highway 41, bringing death to three of its 37 passengers. Eight more were hospitalized with injuries.

Kenosha county Sheriff Leonard J. Jensen reported the truck driver said the accident occurred as he pulled back onto the highway after parking on the shoulder of the road when he became drowsy. He said he did not see the approaching bus as he pulled out into the traffic lane. The truck driver, Carl H. Jackson, 47, of Martin's Ferry, Ohio, was held by Kenosha authorities. He was slightly hurt.

Two of the dead were taken from the wrecked bus. The third died at Kenosha hospital. Two were identified from papers in their purses as Milwaukee women—Susan J. Duebig, about 70, and Mrs. Elsie Blankenheim. The third remained unidentified.

The right side of the Chicago-Milwaukee bus hit the left end of the truck. The bus veered off into the parkway dividing the twin double lanes without overturning. The truck, loaded with beer, went out of control and skidded down an embankment.

All available ambulances from Kenosha and Racine were sent to the scene—about eight miles northwest of here near the intersection of Highways 41 and 43. Police said 1,500 persons also swarmed to the wreck. Squad cars also were used to remove the passengers to hospitals. All but eight were released after treatment.

Suggests Douglas Stay at Home

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(P)—Senator Connally (D-Tex.) today flatly opposed a proposal by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas that the United States formally recognize Red China.

In a heated exchange in the senate with Senator Welker (R-Idaho), Connally shouted "I don't agree with Mr. Douglas. I think he ought to stay home instead of roaming all around the world and Asia making fool statements."

"We're really at war—in a sense—with Red China now," said Connally, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee.

Douglas, in San Francisco after an expedition along the southern frontiers of Russia and China, told a reporter that U. S. recognition of Red China would serve as a means to smash China's political ties with Russia.

Welker called Douglas a "high administration spokesman" and said the Douglas statement indicated the administration might recognize Communist regimes in both Asia and Europe.

Farm Foods Prices Down

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(P)—The farmer's share of the average dollar consumers spent for farm foods was about 49 cents in June and July, the lowest for any month this year, the Agriculture department reported today.

The department said prices received by farmers for food products in July were also five per cent below the record reached in February this year but the retail price remained substantially the same.

"Thus," the department commented, "practically all of the decrease in farm prices has been absorbed by increases in marketing charges."

In January this year the farmer's share of the consumer dollar spent for farm foods was 50 cents. This went up to 51 cents for February, March and April. It moved back down to 50 cents in May. In June, 1950, it was 64 cents.

At Convention Held For Youths

Lebn Bowers, 320 West Fourth, of the First Methodist church, Sedalia, was among the 5,000 delegates at the fifth quadrennial National Convocation of Methodist Youth held at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., August 27-31.

High school and college students came from 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Cuba, representing their local church youth fellowships or state and regional chapters of the Methodist Student Movement.

The convocation theme, "Christian Living in Our Time," was carried out through morning platform talks plus 24 afternoon workshops on church fellowship, Christian vocations, youth problems, social action, and national and world affairs. Jameson Jones, 22-year-old president of Methodist youth was director of the convocation.

Keynote speakers included the Rev. Donald O. Soper, colorful clergyman of London, England; Kirby Page, author and social evangelist of LaHabra, Calif.; Dr. W. Aiken Smart, associate dean of Candler School of Theology, Emory University, Atlanta, Ga.; and Mrs. M. E. Tilly of the Southern Regional Council, Atlanta. Dr. Heil D. Bollinger, head of the Methodist student department of the Board of Education, was platform coordinator.

Leon is expected to arrive home Saturday.

Traffic Cases in The Police Court

A number of traffic cases were disposed of in police court this morning by Judge Jerry Trotter, when defendants failing to appear forfeited their bonds.

Four overtime parkers forfeited cash bonds of $1.00 each.

Bob Sisemore, route 1, forfeited $10.00 for not having a proper muffler on his motorcycle.

John White, route 1, Green Ridge, forfeited $5.00 for running a red traffic light.

Lawrence Kreisler, Lincoln, forfeited $10.00 for speeding.

Recognize Communist regimes in both Asia and Europe.

This brought an angry shouting denial by Connally that Douglas was an administration spokesman or that the president or Secretary of State Acheson favored recognizing Red China.

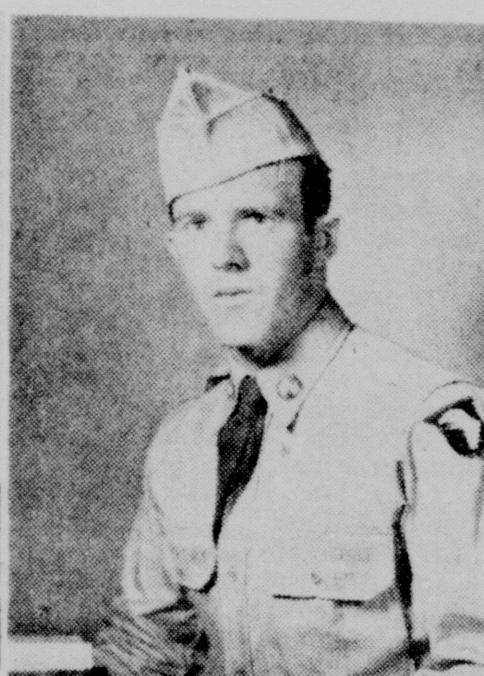

Connally accused Welker of stooping beneath the dignity of a U. S. senator and making a "purely political attack."

The exchange occurred during senate debate on the multi-billion dollar foreign aid bill.

Under the law, Mr. Truman could ask for an injunction to end the strike as soon as he gets the report, but not until then.

Mr. Truman's Defense Mobilization lieutenants have declared the strike is hurting defense production, and that it is urgent production be resumed.

TEXARKANA, Ark., Aug. 31.—(P)—James E. Lynch, 50, who organized the "Jimmie Lynch Daredievs," an automobile thrill show, died at his home here today of cirrhosis of the liver.

He had been ill for several months.

Lynch, a native of New Boston, Tex., started in the show business in 1932 at the Chicago World's Fair and organized his own troupe in 1935. Since then, he had appeared at virtually all of the major fairs throughout the country.

In 1939 and 1940, Lynch's troupe performed at the New York World's Fair.

Three years ago, Lynch leased his show, but had appeared in many of its performances. His partner and son, Capt. J. E. Lynch, Jr., was flown home from Korea to be at his father's bedside. Young Lynch is an artillery officer.

Two other sons, Lieut. R. F. Lynch and Jackie, and his widow survive. The funeral is to be held at 4 p. m. Saturday.

James E. Lynch, originator of the "Jimmie Lynch Daredievs," an automobile thrill show, appeared in Sedalia several times with his thrill show at the Missouri State Fair.

Business Men Get Insight on Up-to Minute Farm Methods

was purchased by Mr. Ream and was considered very poor land but with his balanced farming plan the soil is now productive.

Mr. Ream also answered questions regarding his farm land, his registered cattle which he had on pasture land and his hogs.

Don Evans, one of the agricultural men of the weekly Kansas City Star, and Mrs. Evans were introduced. Mr. Evans made a brief talk.

The principal speaker of the evening, John H. Longwell, dean of the College of Agriculture, was then presented and stressed the need of the business man and the farmer to work together. He stated that when they understood each other's problems they get along better as a community.

Too often, said the speaker, the business man does not know the costs to the farmer, the hazards, the veterinary bills, the many hours of sitting up and working with sick animals. It is well when they know these problems that confront a good farmer.

Dean Longwell stated that no horse drawn machinery can now be purchased and that is the reason that it is harder for a young man to get started in farming now than it was years ago. At that time they needed little equipment, now it takes so much money to buy machinery and there are problems in the modern farming methods. The new type farming days of however, for now because of soil tests, balanced farming and modern methods the yield is much greater.

The speaker told of the experimental station, of the land grant college of Missouri, which is state supported and the Missouri College of Agriculture 1907 and how the three work together. He told the history of the experiment station and how they begin to gain knowledge in farming which was passed on to the farmer. From the extension agents the farmers learn the newest ideas in farming and better.

Dean Longwell stated that one of the leading industries in Missouri is farming and that the farmer must have a big gross income because he uses so much expense. And he explained, the business man profits when the farmer prospers.

Frown on Scanty Garb at Fair

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 31.—(P)—An underwater stripteaser stripped down to her French swim suit in her cool tank today, but the "come-on" girls on the hot platform outside had to wear sarongs.

The underwater stripteaser, known as "Divena," is at the Indiana state fair. While she keeps busy taking off her clothes in her magnesium and glass tank, other girls on the platform outside try to give the customers an idea of what goes on inside.

But the fair board banned the abbreviated costumes. The ruling was firm, no such brevity on the platform outside. The balcony girls reluctantly wrapped themselves in sarongs.

Fair board members said they decided on the ban after inspecting the show at the Missouri state fair last week. One said, "We want no sequel to the shocking, nude shows that drew attention at the recent Iowa state fair in Des Moines."

Where did the French suit come from? Divena, who in private life is Detroit, said she bought it in Fort Wayne, Ind., and she can't understand why anyone would object.

Conversation Lag Annoys Average Wife

By Hal Boyle
NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The average American wife can get everything she wants from the average American husband—except his attention.

Over the years a dense wall of fog rises between her vocal chords and his ears. No matter how many words she pours into this fog all she gets back is "uh huh" or a noncommittal grunt.

And though the manly fellow may shower her with mink and diamonds and endow her with progeny, the wife remains unsatisfied. She thinks, conversation, like charity, should begin at home.

"You don't talk to me any more," she says accusingly.

Translated into English, this means, "You don't listen to me anymore."

But, granting that this is what she really has in mind, why doesn't the average husband listen to his wife? Why shouldn't a dirty old thing that grew up from rats and snails and puppy dog tails jump at the chance to converse with a fair creature made of sugar and spice and everything nice?

I asked several husbands this question. The first said, rather cynically I thought:

"Listen, I don't know why, but if you lived by a waterfall for 20 years do you think you'd still hear it? No."

Another replied, "To tell the truth, I don't remember anything my wife said to me since 1935." It turned out that what she had said then was: "Shut up!"

A third answered that he quit listening to his bride because all she did was make such despondent remarks as:

"Well, guess what happened today? The laundry didn't come back." Or "That new butcher is getting awful fresh with me again. I wish you'd go to the store and put him in his place."

This husband said a strained silence had ensued in his household ever since he told her, "Honey, why don't you put your complaints to music and play them to me on a ukelele?"

A fourth married older-timer said defensively, "That's why people have kids—so wives'll have somebody to talk to. Conversation is for couples that are still courting."

Less Talk: Fewer Quarrels
And a fifth said: "It's simple. The less you talk at home, the fewer the quarrels."

My, what bitter men!
And then I met a white-haired old gentleman, as wise as any man can be in the ways and whims of women, who said:

"My boy, there are only two sentences a man can say that really make sense to a woman. The first is 'Will you marry me?'; the second is, 'I love you.'"

"When he has said those two sentences he is through with the art of conversation at home. The trouble is that women, who often don't mean what they say, always suspect that men never mean what they say. They want to be assured over and over again. If a man, no matter what his wife said to him, just answered 'I love you,' everything would be all right."

"I have followed that formula for 40 years, and I don't actually remember anything my wife has said in all that time."

When I asked him if it had been ever thus through history, he said:

"No. In the cave days there was more conversation. The husband went forth and slew a deer and hauled it home. He would brag until the meat was all gone. Then his wife would hand him his club and say 'Honey, go do it again.'"

"Today, however, the average husband doesn't bring enough home to brag about and he wears out of hearing his wife say, 'Is that all?'"

A final point: Civilization is boring to many people. The husband is bored at work, the wife is bored at home.

Picnic Dinner at Alfrey Home

A family dinner and contributive picnic dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Alfrey of near Sedalia on Sunday, August 26th.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Alfrey of Sedalia; Mr. and Mrs. Bud Griffith of Blackwater; Mr. and Mrs. Curie Davis of Blackwater; Mrs. Albert Widdel of Arrow Rock; Dick Keymer of Arrow Rock; Mrs. Clarence Widdel and children; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Keith of Paola, Kas.; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Keith, Donna, Endia of Paola, Kas.; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Keith and children of San Francisco, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Landerbeck and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Landerbeck and sons of Nevada, Mo.

band is bored at work, the wife is bored at home.

"The difficulty that arises then is that a man, when he gets bored, shuts up. But a woman—ah!"

And the old man shook his white head in sorrow.

Much aluminum is now used in war purposes because lightweight making all sorts of equipment for is essential for air transportation.

Fun to Second Division Clubs

Take Delight in Knocking Off Top Contenders

By Ralph Roden
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
This is the time of year that second division clubs get the most fun out of baseball — knocking off the contenders.

The Philadelphia Athletics are a good example. They will have to pay their way into the World Series but have been raising money for the last year with the top four teams in the American league flag chase.

The A's, a sad seventh, knocked Cleveland out of a first place tie with the New York Yankees yesterday, beating the Tribe, 6-2, for their second straight victory over the Indians. The idle Yanks moved a half game out in front.

During the past few weeks the A's also have split eight games with the Yanks, divided six with the third place Boston Red Sox and took three out of four from Chicago's fourth place White Sox. The third place Red Sox downed the Detroit Tigers, 10-4, to move to within 4½ games of the Yanks. The Red Sox iced the game with four runs in the ninth.

In the National league, the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated Cincinnati, 3-1, the Pittsburgh Pirates clipped the New York Giants 10-9, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated Philadelphia, 6-3 and the Boston Braves swamped the Chicago Cubs, 16-2. The Dodgers' victory and the Giants' defeat moved Brooklyn seven games out in front.

Sizzling Hot For Grid Practice

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 31—(P)—Sweltering weather greeted Big Seven conference football squads at their opening fall practice sessions and the coaches seemed pleased with it.

Said Jules V. Sikes, head coach at the University of Kansas where 113 candidates turned out: "The mercury stood at 98 degrees for our afternoon drill and I hope it continues that way for several days. . . really separates the men from the boys early."

Kansas State's Bill Meek, beginning his first season as a head coach, said at least two of his 70 boys lost "at least 20 pounds" apiece during the opening drills yesterday and added that the squad could stand more hot weather.

The opening turnout was big at most of the schools. Coach Bud Wilkinson, beginning his fifth season as chief of staff at Oklahoma greeted 101 players. About half that number will be around when the Sooners open against William & Mary Sept. 29.

Oklahoma has any number of prize packages in its freshman corps. Most prominent are boys from Cheyenne, Wyo., and Memphis, Tenn. Charles Baker, of Cheyenne, and Buddy Leake, of Memphis, are regarded as standouts.

Coach Don Faurot of Missouri said hello to "ten teams," most of them freshmen.

Nebraska coach Bill Glassford greeted 52 sophomores and veterans at the Cornhusker camp in Curtis, Neb.

Coach Dallas Ward's Colorado squad numbered 80, including freshmen.

Abe Stuber worked his Iowa State squad in 90 degree weather. The early news was both good and bad at Kansas State.

Coach Meek said Elmer Creviston and Ralph Tidwell, both backs, and end Dave Torbett could be marked off because of bad knees.

Hi Faubion, a back who has played well despite a lame knee for two seasons, was pronounced "OK."

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

A Point and a Past
Harry Lawrence, Bucknell's football coach, was boning up on pre-season predictions about his team. . . . First he read a newspaper poll which listed Bucknell above such teams as Penn State, Boston U., Rutgers, Temple, etc. . . . Then he glanced at the glowing remarks of various experts writing for various football annuals. . . . Finally Harry sighed deeply and remarked: "It looks as though we had a great season this fall, doesn't it?"

Shorts and Shells
That's My Baby, movie actor Charles Coburn's two-year-old pacing colt, has turned out to be a pretty good trotter instead. . . . Well, that's the kind of change Hollywood would make in the script. . . . Buddy Young, who probably would give three cheers if the football Yanks traded him, turned down an amazing offer from a Canadian team with the remark: "That's bush league and money isn't everything." . . . A flock of contenders for the National golf championship will tune up next week in the Bill Waite Memorial tournament at Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa., next week.

And a good many of them likely will cool off in a big amateur event to be held in Bermuda in October. . . . Yale is offering the public 2,500 season tickets at mid-field at 50 bucks for seven games or $7.14 a game. . . . Such generosity should help television sales a lot.

"Murder" in Quotes

by Julius Long

XI

BABE TUSSEIG had seen me, and now Earnie Berman whirled. The automatic in my hand kept them from getting any rash ideas. "Keep out of this," said Earnie. "You've nothing in it. It's a private affair."

I looked at the girl's bleeding face. "I never killed anyone, Earnie. But I wouldn't mind killing now."

"They want to know what became of some money," the girl screamed. "They say Cleo got it. If she did, she didn't tell me."

"That's right," said Earnie. "Charlie had 25 G's on him the night he got shot."

I addressed Kay: "If you do decide to tell, Earnie and Tussig will have nothing to do with it. They're going to tell me how they killed Cleo."

The girl had looked relieved. Now she looked worried. She clutched her bleeding face and said:

"Cleo was alive when I left her. She begged me to contact you without anybody seeing me. That's why I hid in your car."

That stopped me. Earnie Berman and Babe Tussig looked at me amusedly. The girl said: "Cleo told me something else. She said that if I didn't find you and anything happened to her I was to give you an address. It was 189 Atlantic."

I had almost forgotten Berman and Tussig.

"Atlantic what?" I shouted it. "What was the name of the town?"

"I don't know. I don't think she gave me the name of any town. There was just another number. I think it was 455."

Berman sneered. "And I'm laying odds of ten-to-one that the 25 G's are stashed away at that address. I'll give Cleo credit. She played dumb and innocent to me. I thought I'd trick her into slipping, and maybe I would have if you hadn't knocked her off. It all adds up now. You just explained it. You figured she'd seen you kill Charlie and you had to shut her up."

I shook my head. "I'd already been acquitted of murdering your brother. If a dozen witnesses turned up to say they saw me do it, I couldn't be tried again. You're the one who knows what Cleo Cassino saw that night. And so does Tussig, for he did the $25,000 went." I turned to Kay. "Come on. I'll take you to a doctor, then to the sheriff. You'll tell him what you told me."

"You saw what he did to Cleo," Berman told her.

The girl was afraid of me. I said: "When the doctor gives you a mirror, you'll see your face. Maybe the doctor can fix you up if you get to him in time. Otherwise, you'll be scarred for life."

That did it. The girl got up. I let her leave the cottage ahead of me. Julie was waiting and that seemed to relieve Kay.

I got under the wheel. Julie had to help Kay O'Neill get into the center of the front seat.

"Hadn't you better use the back roads?" Julie asked. "Berman may phone the highway patrol to look for us."

"Did you see this girl's face?"

"Yes."

"Then you should know that Berman won't be calling a policeman. He won't even be admitting that we were there."

I WAS right. Nobody stopped us as we drove the 15 miles to Queen City. When the local police didn't seem interested in us I knew that the sheriff and his deputy were still safely locked up. I stopped the car within a couple blocks of the jail.

"I'm going to find Gene," I said. Julie got out and came around to get under the wheel. I studied her in the light of a street lamp as she climbed into the driver's seat.

"Are you going to tell me what you were doing at Charlie Berman's place the night he was killed?"

Julie winced. "I don't know what you're talking about."

She drove away without looking at me. I walked down the street to Gene Sawyer's walk-up second-floor office. Gene often worked at night, and I thought he might be there. He wasn't. I used Julie's automatic to break the glass in his reception room door. I went inside and dialed his house number, using the phone in the reception room.

Gene, a bachelor, lived alone. He answered the phone. I said: "I'm at your office, Gene. I had to break the glass in your door. I couldn't risk phoning from anywhere else. I've got to see you. I've got a lead. An address that Cleo passed along before she was murdered. Can you come right down?"

"I'll be right down."

I was afraid somebody would see me from the street. I went back into Gene's private office. I lighted a cigarette and smoked it slowly until only a short butt was left. I stamped out the butt in an ash tray, and my gaze wandered to the bookcase behind Gene's desk. My eyes fell on the book he had marked and shown to me that previous afternoon, the one on which he had relied to get back my leases and my property.

Then my heart must have skipped a beat. The book was numbered and the number was 189. The book was also titled, and the title was "Atlantic Reporter."

I grabbed the book from the shelf and opened it at the marked spot.

Cracker-box Strategists Fumble Civil Defense

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Millard Caldwell

WASHINGTON, August 31 — While time is running out, the cracker-box strategists fumble civil defense.

Some of them know that Air Power at its best can stop only 30 out of 100 attacking enemy bombers. Yet they insist that more air power is the sole answer to protecting the home front.

Others blow hot and cold. One day they think the situation is so hopeless that civil defense could do no good. The next day, the world situation looks brighter, so civil defense is not needed.

Still others insist that retaliation is the answer. What we can do to the enemy blinds them to what the enemy can do to us. They forget the trigger for our retaliation will be a mass atomic attack on our own cities.

Then, another group, the ostrich thinkers, insist that no nation would dare attack this country, because nobody ever has, and besides we're too strong.

Some, bored with crisis after crisis, wake up now and then, say "It can't happen here," and doze off again.

The timid pin their hope on Russian backwardness and say, "That atomic explosion in Russia wasn't really the bomb."

While the pseudo-strategists grope in a snog of truth, half-truth and fantasy, time is running out. We stand in danger of war. Too many seem unable to grasp the fact that we can lose a war. Their stock answers are: If it takes production, we'll outproduce the enemy. If it takes atomic bombs, we'll build bigger and better atomic bombs. If they hit us, we'll hit 'em harder.

These prevalent American beliefs are ingrained, basic but, unfortunately, stop short of an adequate answer to the sharp question sired by reality. They were incomplete by three things — Red imperialism, the global bomber and the atomic bomb.

This trio has forced on Americans a whole new concept of war. Today or any day, America itself can become a battleground. Civilians are the first targets in this new kind of war. If the enemy first smashes the home front, the military may have little left to fight for and less to fight with.

The Kremlin knows that our American home front must be knocked out quickly, if it is to be knocked out at all. For this reason, the first attack must be a grand slam using all the modern terror weapons.

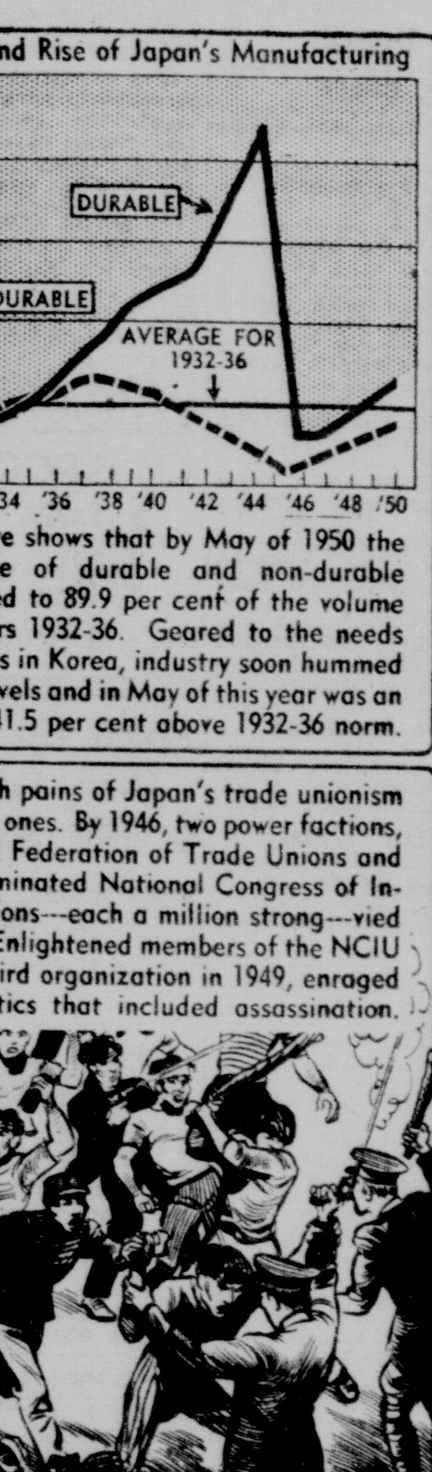

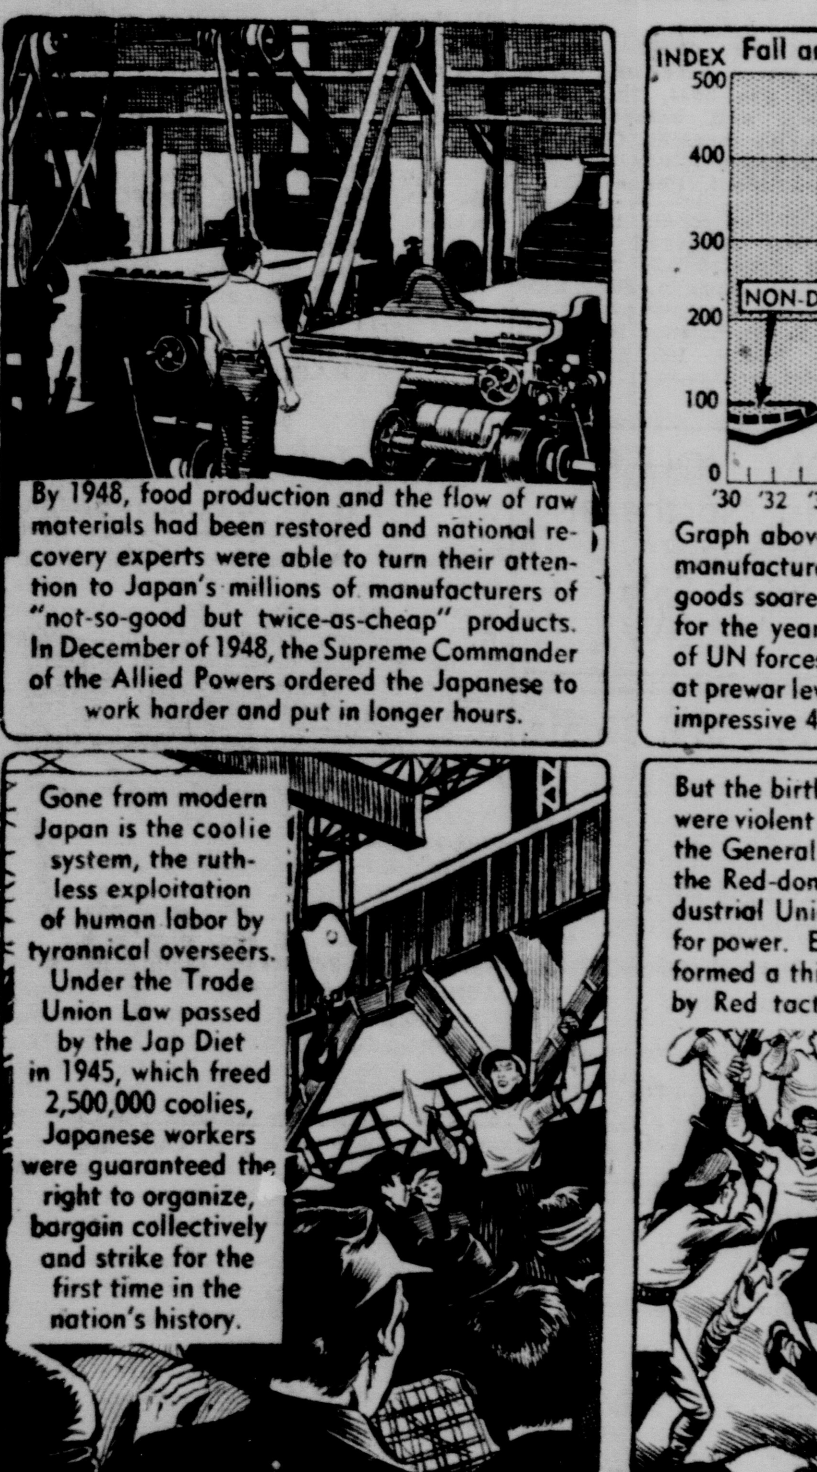

Those who doubt the likelihood of war on the home front should heed what representative Clarence Cannon, chairman of the House appropriations committee, had to say on the floor April 9. He said: "It will be fought in this 'If war comes — which God forbid — as well as abroad.'"

General Vandenberg (speaking for the Air Force) said that "in spite of all our radar fences, our walls of shipping, our networks of communication and our clouds of interceptor planes, 70 per cent of the enemy planes carrying the atomic bombs would get through. We might as well face that fact. Every center of wealth and population and civilization would be devastated. We have only to look at the cities in Germany to see how the cities of America would look within one week after war had started."

W. Stuart Symington, while the chairman of NSRB, said "who can be a bigger fool than the fool who continues to fool himself, especially when his own existence is at stake." Those who will read the record must see where the 30 year pattern of Russian imperialism leads.

The retaliationists have an empty answer. To devastate Russian cities would not restore our own. Unrealistic thinking has snapped our strength and robbed us of precious time. No American city is prepared to cope with an enemy attack. We must use our time wisely and well. There is no time for fatalism or fantasy.

JAPAN: Rebirth of a Nation

The modernization and revitalization of industry, however, has not completely eliminated the numerous small-family or household factories which won for prewar Japan the reputation of a "workshop nation." Common in Japan is the sight of an entire family, sitting beneath a ten-watt electric bulb, engaged in the manufacture of handicraft articles.

Japan lost an estimated 30 per cent of her industry during the war but emerged from the conflict with power facilities of better than prewar capacity. But waste ran rampant. SCAP put its foot down with power rationing, and the installation of meters. More important has been SCAP's progress in teaching the Japanese how to regulate their utilities in the public interest.

As important as SCAP's removal of lawless communism from the labor scene has been the passage of a workers' compensation law providing benefits for industrial accident victims. Unemployment insurance and other legislation has further helped to make Japan's 7,000,000 union members the nation's most politically-conscious class. Their role in Japan's future cannot be underestimated.

Communism labor's acts of terrorism prompted Democrats and Democrat Liberals in the Jap Diet to investigate the Communist Party proper. As a result of the inquiry and the outbreak of the Korean War, Gen. Douglas MacArthur dealt a death blow to the party's 3,000,000 members by ordering Red publications banned and party-bugs seized.

But the birth pains of Japan's trade unionism were violent ones. By 1946, two power factions, the General Federation of Trade Unions and the Red-dominated National Congress of Industrial Unions—each a million strong—vied for power. Enlightened members of the NCUI formed a third organization in 1949, enraged by Red tactics that included assassination.

The Doctor Says—Measles Is Not the Simple Disease Many People Think

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Soon after the opening of schools in the fall is the time when the common contagious diseases of childhood are most likely to cause trouble. The big four are measles, mumps, chickenpox, and whooping cough.

They are so common among children that I am often asked if it isn't best to expose small children to such infections intentionally and "get it over with."

The answer (with the possible exception of chickenpox) is "don't." They are not harmless and it is better to avoid them if possible.

Measles, for example, is not the simple thing many seem to feel. More youngsters die from measles than from polio; it often causes serious complications such as broncho-pneumonia or bronchitis; even when mild the approximately five hundred thousand who have measles each year are kept out of school or other activity for quite a long time.

The cause of measles is a virus and this tiny living organism is present in the secretions of the mouth and nose during the first few days of when a person is "coming down" with the disease.

A sneeze or cough will carry the virus into the air where it can be breathed in by anyone else around. This makes measles especially contagious even before the skin rash appears.

Open to Exposure

It is difficult to avoid exposure once an outbreak of measles has started in a school. Exposure certainly should not be sought but if it does occur, one has to consider the use of a substance known as immune globulin.

If this is given to a youngster who has been exposed, at just the right time, it tends to make the disease milder and cut down on the number of serious complications.

The main purpose of this discussion of measles is to point out that the disease should not be taken as a joke and as something every child must have. Too often measles has been considered too lightly, sometimes with tragic results.

Ruth Millett 'Worn Out' at Day's End? These Things Will Do It

A few tips for the woman who really wants to be happier than she is.

One. Don't nurse old grudges and refuse to let go of past hurts. There are two things you can do about past unhappiness. Brood about it. Or forget it. The first is the right choice if you really enjoy wallowing in misery. The second is the right choice if you want to be happy.

Two. Don't face each new day as though it is an ordeal to be lived through, somehow. A lot of woe really do. But if you're going to be happy you've got to welcome each day as it comes along. Get what you can out of it in work accomplished, things done for others and at least something done strictly for your own pleasure.

Three. Don't deliberately create situations that you know are going to make you tense and nervous and anxious. Crowding a shopping trip into an already full day, letting the children tease you

Six Tricky Red Questions On the Japanese Treaty

After Third Meeting With Dulles, Malik Suddenly Clammed Up

By PETER EDSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The six questions on the proposed Japanese peace treaty which Russian UN delegate Jacob Malik left with U.S. Ambassador John Foster Dulles at their second meeting in November, 1950, were extremely tricky.

The first pointed out that the Allied powers in January, 1942, had agreed not to make a separate peace with axis countries. Did the United States now intend to go ahead with a separate treaty?

Dulles' answer to this and the other Russian questions was that the 1942 agreement covered hostilities. At this time, the United States did not concede to anyone the power to veto a treaty with Japan.

At Cairo and Potsdam it had been agreed that Formosa and the Pescadores island would go to China. At Yalta, Sakhalin and the Kurile islands had been given to Soviet Russia. Malik's second question:

What was the meaning of the U. S. proposal to leave these islands to settlement by the U. S., Britain, Russia and China within one year, or to throw the problem into the UN General Assembly if agreement were reached by the Big Four powers?

The Formosa question had been before the UN that Fall. This created a precedent for the proposal, Dulles said. But all territorial matters, it was pointed out, were subject to final treaty settlement.

Thirdly, Malik questioned the basis of the U. S. proposal for the Ryukyu Islands, since that issue had been covered by the Cairo and Potsdam agreements.

Dulles' answer here was in effect the same as before. This was the U. S. proposal. Period.

On a fourth point, the Russian asked what plans had been drafted for withdrawal of the U. S. troops from Japan within a fixed time after signing of the treaty.

The original seven points proposed by Dulles merely stated that the United States and Japan would settle the matter of future Japanese security. This had been intended only as a first presentation of the issue. Now Dulles had an opportunity to elaborate on this ticklish subject.

He advanced the view that on conclusion of peace, military occupation of Japan should cease. The "new order of peace, security and justice" envisaged at Potsdam, could then come into existence. Japan would be able to participate with the United States and others in agreements for individual and collective security. This was guaranteed to every nation under Article 51 of the UN Charter.

Up to this time, Dulles had planned to say nothing about this plan. Now it was marked for inclusion in the treaty.

Fifth, Malik asked if the U. S. proposed treaty would annul all restraints on Japan's peace-time economy.

The answer was simple. The treaty should not limit the Japanese peace-time economy nor deny Japan access to raw materials, said Dulles.

Finally, the Russians pointed out that the Chinese had fought Japan and asked what was being done to determine Chinese views.

Dulles replied that the pact was being negotiated through diplomatic channels, and the United States had no relations with the so-called People's Republic of China.

This was the way matters stood when Dulles and Malik had their third meeting, at Malik's house, Jan. 13, 1951. Dulles had just been appointed special representative for President Truman, and was to leave soon for Japan. He wanted to explain clearly there were to be no secret negotiations.

Malik never made any comment on this explanation. He did ask Dulles why he had been talking to the Indonesians and Ceylonese about the treaty, but not to Communist China.

Dulles replied in effect that Malik knew very well why the United States was not talking to the Reds. Then he said there was nothing in the treaty Red China could take exception to.

The conversation jumped around. Malik said he had read that the U. S. intended to rearm Japan. Dulles told him that wasn't true but asked, "Do you want Japan to remain defenseless forever?"

Malik never answered. But he said Russia had suffered from Japanese and German invasions, while America had not. Dulles replied that the United States wasn't interested in the resurgence of militarism. But if arms limits were put into the treaty, other nations would have to be prepared to enforce them. And nobody seemed eager for that job.

At the end of this third meeting, which got nowhere, Dulles said he would tell Malik what happened in Japan after he got back.

Malik said he had received no reply from Moscow on Dulles' answers to his six questions, but would let Dulles know when he did. That was the way they left it.

When Dulles returned at the end of February and announced in Washington that he would soon confer again with Malik, he got a surprise.

On March 3, Malik issued a statement in New York saying, "I do not conduct any talks with Mr. Dulles, on the Japanese peace treaty."

Next: Dulles' mission to Japan.

Seymour Marshal Free
After Two Days In Jail

MARSHFIELD, Mo., Aug. 31—(P)—Seymour's city marshal was released Thursday from the county jail after serving two days of a ten-day sentence for contempt of court.

The officer, James Hamblin, was released after Circuit Judge James Hawkins granted his application for a writ of habeas corpus.

Hamblin was jailed Tuesday when the Seymour police judge, J. S. Nollquist, held him in contempt of court. The judge said the marshal had "abused me, tried to whip me and even let fellows out of jail and never let them come before me."

Judge Hawkins held that the contempt action forms were not in proper legal form.

During the hearing the marshal admitted he had released seven or eight prisoners from the city jail without taking them before the police judge.

McCarthy Bets Senate Seat
On Outcome Of A Jury Trial

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—(P)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis)—Saying it was a hopeless gesture — has offered to risk his Senate seat in a jury trial of Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Ambassador Philip K. Jessup.

"There is no way on God's earth I can get them into court," McCarthy told newsmen afterwards.

Nevertheless, he flung his trial by jury dare in a speech to the 52nd annual convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars shortly after the veterans demanded Acheson's ouster as State Secretary.

McCarthy offered to resign if a jury should find Acheson and Jessup innocent of his charges of Communist meddling.

Loss Steps Down

But he demanded the resignations of Acheson, Jessup and "that whole motley crowd" should the jury uphold his charges.

McCarthy conceded that such a jury trial was out of the question. American courts do not try purely political cases, unless libel or slander is involved.

But he said critics have demanded that he prove his charges in court and McCarthy said he's ready and willing.

McCarthy, himself a Marine veteran and VFW member, was loudly cheered before, during and after his 90-minute speech. This was in contrast to yesterday, when some delegates booed mention of McCarthy's name.

Once during his speech, a delegate shouted loudly, "McCarthy for President."

Names Offered

The fiery Wisconsin Republican strode to the convention platform after telling newsmen he would "name names" of what he terms Communists in government.

"If the statements are libelous, I will be speaking without Senatorial immunity," he added.

Administration supporters have accused McCarthy of hiding behind Senatorial immunity and hurling his charges without fear of libel action.

However, the men he named today he had accused before from the Senate floor—Acheson, Jessup, Owen Lattimore, John S. Service and Gustavo Duran.

All Deny Charges

All have denied his Senate charges that they were Communists or Red sympathizers.

McCarthy pointed out that the administration has said charges aired in a political speech or at a press conference are not a fair trial—that a fair trial is a courtroom trial.

"They're the ones that have asked for a court case and I've said 'al right, bring them in,'" McCarthy told newsmen. "They asked for it. I haven't. I've agreed."

In Washington, both the State Department and Ambassador Jessup said there would be no comment on McCarthy's statements.

Truman Applauds UN Army

Ridgway Drills Stronger Force Than Ever Before President Declares

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—(AP)—President Truman declared emphatically today that United Nations forces in Korea are stronger than ever in case large-scale war is renewed.

He added he is 100 per cent behind Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's handling of the stalemated cease-fire negotiations.

The UN commander's latest statement was an offer to resume the talks any time the Communists are ready to do so. In the same note he declined a Red demand that he reinvestigate their charge that American planes bombed the Kaesong neutrality zone. The Reds have not replied.

A reporter asked at a news conference today whether the Allied position is stronger, in the event that full-scale fighting is resumed. The President's reply was: Certainly we are. He then added he was fully behind Gen. Ridgway who, he said, is expressing the position of the American government.

Other Results
On other subjects, the President said:

"The effort in Congress to cut his $8,500,000,000 foreign aid request by $1,000,000,000 is misplaced economy in a very serious situation. He said it is a pity to upset the whole apparatus when the aid program is on the verge of success. But he said the prospect of restoring the cut looked rather hopeless.

The case of William N. Oatis, AP reporter imprisoned in Czechoslovakia on spy charges, will never be closed, at least as far as the U. S. is concerned, until the newsmen gets out of jail. This was his reply to a defiant statement yesterday by the new Czech ambassador, Vladimir Prochazka, that the case is closed. The Czech embassy later said he meant it was closed from a juridical point of view.

More Red Propaganda
Mr. Truman described as nothing new Moscow press reports accusing this country of trying to start world war III. It isn't true, he said, adding that, like all Soviet propaganda, it is not founded on fact at all.

Still other questions developed that Mr. Truman will: Make a few remarks next Thursday in dedicating a reserve army in Kansas City, Mo., en route home from the Japanese treaty ceremony at San Francisco.

Resume correspondence with the President of Soviet Russia on friendship between the American and Russian people when he thinks the time is right. He said there is no hurry about this, that such things have to be done very deliberately.

Three Walk-Out Of A Meeting On Cafe Bill

Three members of the Ordinance Committee of the City Council walked out of a meeting called Thursday afternoon by City Counselor Chester Wolfe to discuss proposed action on the City Restaurant ordinance, now tabled by Council vote.

The group, led by Alderman Jim Reed, acted after they noticed the absence of five members of the Citizens Restaurant Committee from the session. Reed said according to a Council motion of Aug. 6, made by Alderman Elmer Sumners, the Citizens Committee was to attend the meeting, along with the Sanitation Committee and the Ordinance Committee of the Council.

"It is my policy to shoot squarely with the people, and I do not feel I can follow this policy without the Citizens Committee's presence." The other members of the Ordinance Committee supported Reed's view. They were Aldermen Earl Lashley and Harry Moore.

According to Counselor Wolfe the Thursday meeting was an entirely different matter than the session referred to by Councilman Reed. "This was merely a preliminary meeting to obtain the councilmen's opinion of the Restaurant submitted to the Council by the Citizens Committee. I planned a meeting of the full group at a later date."

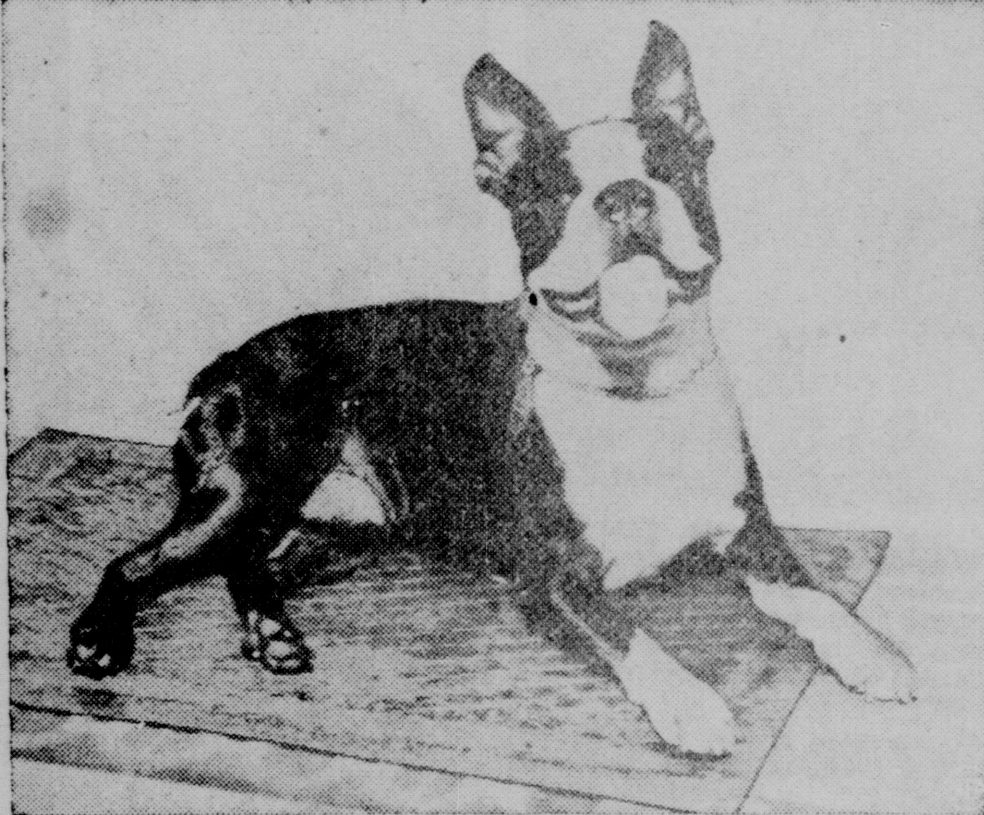

Wolfe said he hoped to gather a consensus of Council opinion at the Thursday session and later meet with John C. McCloskey, attorney for the Citizens Committee, for a more concrete discussion of the Restaurant Ordinance.

The meeting was dismissed after the walk-out.

Fire Department Makes Two Runs Thursday Night

The Sedalia Fire Departments made two runs Thursday night, neither resulting in serious damage. The first was to Broadway and Massachusetts where a automobile had ignited. The blaze was extinguished a few moments after the departments arrived at 6:25 p.m.

The second run was to the Mid-Continent Wholesale Company Main and Vermont, where smoke had filled the building. Upon entering firemen found a motor used for refrigeration was smoking. Only slight damage resulted.

DOGGONE GOOD!—"Dusty," a Boston terrier in St. Petersburg, Fla., can put it on—the "dog," that is—any time he feels like it. Because the pup inherited $50,000 tax-free from his late owner, Mrs. Mary S. Morrow of Clearwater, Friends said Mrs. Morrow made the bequest because she feared Dusty "wouldn't get the calf liver, steaks and pork chops to which he was accustomed." Dusty always turned up his nose at mere dog biscuits, they said.

Dewey Calls-On Free World To Form Solid Pacific Line

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today called on the free world to draw a definite Pacific defense line with a promise of "the same kind of bloody nose you got in Korea" to any aggressor who stepped across. Dewey, just back from a 40,000-mile Far East trip that took him to the Korean battlefield, suggested that the "stop Communism" line run from the Arctic to New Zealand.

"That isn't cheap and it isn't pleasant and it calls for sacrifice, but I want the free world to stay alive," he told the Veterans of Foreign Wars in their encampment here.

All Nations Play Same Role
The former Republican presidential nominee said countries along the route, which he did not define in detail, should not be considered separate powers, but part of the common defense set-up.

Dewey also brought these observations back from his trip: The United States should stop conducting its foreign policy in what he called "bits and pieces" and instead should adopt a "total outlook" to thwart Communism.

Although he once doubted enemy casualties were as high as reported, he now believes the figures are conservative. Immediate encouragement should be given to "resistance within China" against the Red regime.

The United States has "great allies" in the Far East. Dewey spoke with an informal phraseology that contrasted with the formal tests of his 1944 and 1948 presidential campaigns.

We Are Not Alone
"We're not alone in this struggle and don't let anybody kid you that we are alone," he said. Dewey said he found in Korea that the United Nations forces had handed the Communists "the most terrible beating in history."

"I believe the figures on enemy killed in Korea are conservative," the governor said.

He Admits Guilt To Judge

Conscience Begins To Bother Slayer Of 2 Kansas Citizens

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Calm but talkative, a slayer who killed two persons and said he had planned to kill three more, admitted today that his conscience "is bothering me a little bit."

He is Richard B. Donaldson, 29-year-old operator of a self-laundry, who shot and killed a University of Kansas City professor and an elderly Negro woman in a Wednesday afternoon journey of death.

Donaldson told magistrate Bernard W. Gierkoff that he wanted to plead guilty to two counts of first degree murder, but declined to waive a preliminary hearing. He was sent back to jail, without bond, pending the hearing September 17.

Later, while talking to persons in the courtroom, he said: "My conscience is bothering me a little bit about this thing."

Life Has Been Unhappy
He lamented that his life had been an unhappy one. "I was even humiliated yesterday when I tried to shoot those people in the grocery store," he said. "My guns wouldn't fire. I guess humiliation isn't exactly a word for it, but that's something I'll never live down as long as I live."

In a signed statement, he said he had gone to the grocery store with the intention of killing his landlady, Mrs. Rose Kahn, and her brother, Louis Kahn. But his two guns failed to fire.

Academy Issues Denial

West Point Says No Ousted Cadet Restored To Duty

WEST POINT, N. Y., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Frederick A. Irving, superintendent of the U. S. Military Academy, today said "no cadet found guilty and separated has been restored to duty, and there is no intention of doing so."

His statement was issued after Attorney Robert Daru told a New York City bar inquiry into the cribbing scandal that seven of the accused cadets had been "restored to duty."

An academy spokesman said yesterday that several cadets whose names had cropped up during the academy investigation had been cleared. He did not specify whether these were among the 90 accused originally or others whose names were drawn into the inquiry.

He said at that time none of the 82 cadets who have left the campus had been recalled and restored to duty.

3 Cadets Testify At Hearing
At the second day of a public hearing in New York City being conducted by the committee on Justice of the New York Civil and Criminal Courts Bar Association, three of the expelled cadets testified.

They said they did not get hearings before the cadets' honor committee as provided by the honor code.

The three cadets were Harrison Gerard Travis of Atlantic Highlands, N. J.; Donald Senich of Cleveland, Ohio; and Elmer E. Stout of South River, N. J.

A fourth cadet, George Madison McCullough, of Sileam Madison, Ark., told the committee he had signed a statement for academy authorities under what he believed to be coercion.

The statement, he later told reporters, dealt with his participation in the alleged cribbing.

Daru Declined Answer
Daru told the justice committee today he had been asked to reveal his source of information concerning the alleged restorations but that he had declined.

He said he would continue to refuse to name his source unless the question was put to him by a congressional investigation committee.

McCullough told the committee he had been subjected to questioning for eight hours one day and three hours the next. He said he finally reached a point where he no longer cared what he said.

"You got to a point, because of the length of questioning, where you didn't care what you said," Daru asked.

"I did," McCullough answered. "Were you coerced in connection with the whole proceedings, would you say?"

"I feel that way," he replied.

He estimated the total loss at $18,000.

The truck under lease to the Jack Cooper Transport company, was enroute from Kansas City to Kingfisher, Okla.

Acheson, Jessup Others Concerned

McCarthy Bets Senate Seat On Outcome Of A Jury Trial

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP)—charges that they were Communists or Red sympathizers.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.)—Saying it was a hopeless gesture—offered today to risk his Senate seat in a jury trial of Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Ambassador Philip K. Jessup.

"There is no way on God's earth I can get them into court," McCarthy told newsmen afterwards. Nevertheless, he flung his trial by jury dare in a speech to the 52nd annual convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars—shortly after the veterans demanded Acheson's ouster as State Secretary.

McCarthy offered to resign if a jury should find Acheson and Jessup innocent of his charges of Communist meddling.

Loser Steps Down
But he demanded the resignations of Acheson, Jessup and "that whole motley crew" should the jury uphold his charges.

McCarthy conceded that such a jury trial was out of the question. American courts do not try purely political cases, unless libel or slander is involved.

But his critics have demanded that he prove his charges in court and McCarthy said he's ready and willing.

McCarthy, himself a Marine veteran and VFW member, was loudly cheered before, during and after his 90-minute speech. This was in contrast to yesterday, when some delegates booed mention of McCarthy's name.

Once during his speech, a delegate shouted loudly: "McCarthy for President."

Names Offered
The fiery Wisconsin Republican strode to the convention platform after telling newsmen he would name names of what he terms Communists in government.

"If the statements are libelous, I will be speaking without Senatorial immunity," he added. Administration supporters have accused McCarthy of hiding behind Senatorial immunity and hurling his charges without fear of libel action.

However, the men he named today he had accused before to the Senate floor—Acheson, Jessup, Owen Lattimore, John S. Service and Gustavo Duran.

All Deny Charges
All have denied his Senate charges today.

Seymour Marshal Free After Two Days In Jail

MARSHFIELD, Mo., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Seymour's city marshal was released today from the county jail after serving two days of a ten-day sentence for contempt of court.

The officer, James Hamblin, was released after Circuit Judge James Hawkins granted his application for a writ of Habeas Corpus.

Hamblin was jailed Tuesday when the Seymour police judge, J. S. Neimquist, held him in contempt of court. The judge said the Marshal had "abused me, tried to whip me and even let fellows out of jail and never let the money before me."

Judge Hawkins held that the contempt action forms were not in proper legal form.

During the hearing the marshal admitted he had released seven or eight prisoners from the city jail without taking them before the police judge.

C. E. Wilson Selected Hickory County Treasurer

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Gov. Forrest Smith appointed C. E. Wilson, Hermitage Democrat, county treasurer of Hickory county today.

Enemy Presents Formal Statement

Red Chief Demands Severe Punishment For UN 'Culprits'

TOKYO, Friday, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The Communists last night charged formally that an Allied plane dropped a flare over Kaesong Wednesday and demanded that the "culprits be severely punished."

The note, the latest in a series of Red charges that the Allies violated the neutrality of the Kaesong armistice talk site, was handed yesterday to a U. N. liaison officer at Panmunjom, east of Kaesong.

The Red officer, in handing over the note, also voiced charges that Allied armed personnel had violated the neutrality zone. The note made no mention of a possible resumption of the truce talks which the Reds themselves suspended.

The text of the note was broadcast earlier by the Peiping radio. It was signed by Lt. Gen. Nam Il, the North Korean who heads the Communist negotiating team. It was addressed to Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief negotiator for the United Nations command.

The Red liaison officer, Col. Chang Chun-Shan in delivering Nam's written protest, also said he wished "to make a strong verbal protest."

Three Items Listed
Then he referred to some written notes and said:

"A. At 011610 (Pyongyang time, Aug. 30) armed personnel of your side from the vicinity of the Panmunjom bridge attacked the neutral zone and seven invaded the neutral zone."

"B. This afternoon, we received a report that armed personnel of your side attacked our military police in the vicinity of Chongdam (three and one-half miles southeast of Kaesong). We are now investigating."

"C. By order of my senior delegate (Nam) I make this strong protest verbally and reserve the right to make further demands."

There was no Allied confirmation of the reported flare-dropping. An earlier Peiping broadcast today charged the Allies with threatening to bomb Kaesong, where the armistice negotiators were suspended by the Communists Aug. 23.

The talks were halted following a Red charge that a U. N. plane bombed Kaesong Aug. 22. The top Communist leaders have continued to ignore a proposal Wednesday by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme U. N. commander, that the talks be resumed.

Reds Charge 'Cover-Up'
Ridgway's refusal to reopen an investigation of the alleged Aug. 22 bombing was described by the Reds as an attempt "to cover up the flagrant lies he has handed the world."

The earlier broadcast on the reported flare-dropping incident quoted a Communist telegram correspondent identified as C. T. Sim as saying Kaesong residents "take this latest American violation of the Kaesong neutrality zone . . . as a threat to bomb the city and put an end to the peace talks."

Mr. Truman appointed Ralph Seward of Washington, chairman, and Joseph L. Miller of Washington and Allan Dash of Philadelphia as members of the inquiry board. Dash has been a member of a special panel of the Wage Stabilization board which investigated a similar strike of CIO steel workers at the Garfield, Utah plant of American Smelting and Refining Co. today.

The President acted while feverish eleven hour negotiations were underway, aimed at settling the dispute at the Kennecott Copper Co., Salt Lake City, Utah.

The strike, which began last Monday morning, was called by the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, an independent union formerly in the CIO. Members of a dozen AFL unions refused to go through picket lines, so that virtually all copper production has been cut off.

If the government gets an injunction against the strike, after the inquiry board has reported. The injunction would be good for 80 days.

One Killed, Two Hurt In Train-Truck Wreck Near Topeka, Kansas

TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 30.—(AP)—A 77-year-old truck driver was killed and two trainmen injured today in the fiery collision of a crack Union Pacific streamlined passenger train and a transport loaded with whisky.

The train, headed by Henry Clay Steen, Aurora, Colo. He was en route from Kansas City to Denver in a truck owned by the Riss Trucking Co., North Kansas City, Mo.

Roy E. Taylor of Kansas City, Kas., fireman on the train, was quoted as saying the train was "treated at a hospital for burns and then released. Thompson also is from Kansas City."

The accident occurred at a railroad crossing five miles west of Topeka on Highway US-40 shortly before 7 a.m.

Kansas Receives More Money For Its Flood Relief Program

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—(AP)—An additional $3,800,000 in flood relief emergency funds was allocated today to Kansas.

The allocation was made by President Truman, who next week will make another personal tour over the flood-ravaged areas of the state.

The President made the new allocation for Kansas on the basis of a memorandum from the budget bureau.

The bureau advised that on August 15, the governor of Kansas made to the Community Facilities Service field co-ordinator at Kansas City a request for an additional allocation of $15,139,500.88 of federal funds for use in flood-stricken areas of Kansas.

Many items not covered. The memorandum continued: "The governor's report of state and local requirements includes estimates of permanent repairs as well as costs of temporary repairs and includes various items which do not appear eligible for disaster relief assistance under the provisions of public law 875."

"Of a total of $3,275,000 (excluding $3,500,000 made available for temporary housing) allocated for use in the State of Kansas, $2,382,500 has been expended and it is estimated that an additional $4,682,740 will be dispersed."

Reds Launch Savage Push In East Korea

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Friday, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Savage assaults by reinforced Communist troops in eastern Korea were thrown back by United Nations' forces Thursday.

The Reds launched three attacks north of Yanggu as an estimated 10,000 fresh Communist troops dug in behind them. A new division of about 8,000 men was seen moving south in the area northwest of Yanggu.

Bombs Isolate Rashin
(In Washington, the air force said the U. N. bombing of Rashin, 18 miles from the Soviet border, Aug. 15 cut rail lines from Red Korea to the Russian military base at Vladivostok.)

(An air force spokesman said preliminary reports indicated also that all rail and road communications south of Rashin were put out of operation.)

(The spokesman said the port city on the northeastern coast of Korea has been used by the Reds as a stockpiling and transshipment point for arms and equipment.)

The fiercest Red attack lasted 13 hours and was supported by mortar and artillery fire. The other assaults were by platoon-sized groups. The Reds withdrew after three hours.

Red Traffic Drops Off
U. N. Aircraft lashed at Communist supply lines in the north, destroying boxcars and trucks and cutting rail lines and roadways. Pilots reported spotting 1,300 trucks, but the Fifth Air Force said the volume of Red traffic had dropped sharply because of flooding rivers and attacks by night-flying B-26 bombers. Of 900 attacked Wednesday night and early Thursday, an estimated 270 were destroyed or damaged, the Fifth Air Force announced.

Hot Weather in State to Linger
KANSAS CITY, Aug. 30.—(AP)—More hot weather is in store for Missouri.

The mercury which hit the high 90s over most of the state Wednesday, is expected to go even higher today and Friday.

However, the extreme north-west is expected to get some relief in thundershowers late today and tomorrow.

Among the hot spots in the state yesterday were Springfield with a 99; West Plains and Joplin 98; Kansas City, Columbia and St. Joseph 97; Rolla 94; Kirksville 93 and St. Louis 92.

J. R. Lloyd, chief weather forecaster, said the cool front approaching from the northwest had plenty of depth and he looked for general relief by the week-end.

Odd Behavior Solves An Illinois Car Theft

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 30.—(AP)—A car theft was solved today because of the way two youths got into an automobile.

After getting gasoline at a filling station, they crawled back into the car through the windows. Trooper A. J. Gates of the State Highway patrol arrested them for investigation. He said they told him they had stolen the car at Springfield, Ill., and had damaged the door locks. After that they couldn't use the doors, so they crawled in and out of the windows.

The youths, 18 years old, are being held in the county jail.

Train Hits Truck Scattering Autos

HIGH HILL, Mo., Aug. 30.—(AP)—A Wabash freight train smashed into a stalled automobile transport truck yesterday, scattering new cars along the right of way almost a mile.

Frank Clark Motter, 26, of Bryan, Ohio, the truck driver, told highway patrolmen he shifted into low gear to cross the tracks on a gravel road near this Montgomery county town. But his trailer stuck on the tracks and he couldn't move it forward or backward.

Motter jumped free when the locomotive hit and was not hurt. Lester R. Allen of Moberly was the engineer.

The patrol estimated damage to the truck and its load of four automobiles at $8,000.

Little Miss Kay Romig, in her Colonial lavender organdy dress, presented Miss Thomas with a miniature wedding bouquet of white stephanotis with white satin braided ribbons forming the shawl. Tied to each of these ribbons were verses very cleverly written where the shower gifts were hidden throughout the house.

The dining table was covered with a white lace cloth, centered with a three-tiered cake with many colonial bouquets of white stephanotis lined with silver lace collies around the cake and white apertures on either side, which was very attractive. The cake knife bore a white satin bow.

Red Cross Corner

Although it is proverbial that the American Red Cross does not solicit aid, does not exact thanks in any form, or favor, this is also proverbial that an expression of thanks is a heart warming thing indeed. That is why we talked the office and the Blood Chairman into giving us a certain letter to reproduce in our column. From the nurse operating with the Blood Unit recently here in Sedalia, it is addressed to Mrs. Arthur Studebaker: "Dr. Parker, the staff and I would like to say 'Thanks again' for everything you and your wonderful staff of volunteers did for us on our recent visit. Tell the Canteen who prepared our delicious meals that I think they are spoiling my staff. It was all very good, and thoughtful of you to plan it for us. We are all looking forward to our return visit in November." We hope that Sedalia and Pettis county are looking forward to that visit also. Maybe in November we can do better than our quota and make up for the August fiasco. We'll hope so anyway.

Our very sincere thanks to P. A. Sillers for the grand cooperation in the matter of the Red Cross swimming classes at the Liberty park pool. His work and that of Henry Sutton, Water Safety chairman, and Judy Yeaman, our instructor, and life guards, have made the past summer a memorable one. The swimming instruction had a grand finale with the Water Carnival, which drew a good crowd. This carnival was so successful that it will probably become an annual event.

New Unit Forming
A new unit of the very famous and ever necessary Red Cross Canteen service will begin classwork the week of September 10. Any one interested in becoming a new member may register now. Call 618.

The Red Cross booth at the Missouri State Fair was well attended and brought in many complimentary remarks as to its attractiveness and effectiveness.

The assisting volunteers were: Mrs. A. F. Scott, Mrs. A. A. Studebaker, Mrs. Herbert Seifert, Mrs. George Dryden, Mrs. Abe Rosenthal, Mrs. Mary Houston, Mrs. Georgia Holbrook, Mrs. Tom Yount, and Mrs. Lawrence Wolf.

Don't forget the Flood Relief Drive. A slogan has been adopted: "Give your disaster dollar to help meet human needs." We still short our quota and are anxious to go over the top. A man in the Russian occupied zone of Germany heard about the Missouri-Kansas disaster, and smuggled through five marks to be sent to the fund. Some going for a person behind the Iron Curtain. We are grateful to our contributors, but we need more money. Have you given anything yet?

Letters From Germany
The Red Cross office has just received another consignment of letters from German children in the occupied zones. A note from the Area Office explains that all translations are done by volunteers, and that is why the letters take so long to reach the chapters. We have one in the office now that has not been translated. Will Charlie, Jerry and David, all of Smithton. Sadie Homan of Florence, Mary P. My name is Renate Brass and I am eight years old. I have two sisters, Hannelore and Grete. Hannelore is twelve years old, and Grete is ten years old. We have had a very heavy frost and so we go skating nearly every day. Do you have much snow? I am in the third grade, but I am sorry we have not learned English yet. Miss Rand Befuddles Local Photographer

Sally Rand recently displayed her ability to create furor. The past week a local business establishment installed an expensive piece of machinery and the factory representatives remarked he would like to have a picture of Miss Rand with the machine, to run in his trade magazine, which is sent all over the world.

A well-known local photographer was contacted to take the picture and was thrilled over the idea of getting to photograph Miss Rand. Miss Rand and four beautiful girls from the Raynold Show on the Catlin-Wilson midway of the Missouri State Fair grounds made a special trip, dressed in their ballet attire, to the business house and the photographer notified.

The girls were placed on the machine, Miss Rand sat in front of it, the photographer climbed aboard and shot a number of pictures with a wide grin. An amateur photographer also got in on the deal, but he won't know until his pictures come back whether they will be good or not, because they are color film.

The well-known photographer about an hour later expressed his embarrassment by calling the establishment and notified them "I didn't get a picture. I shot a picture recently on another shutter and forgot to change over for this picture."

The "boss" of the establishment was notified and he only replied, "Well you can tell Miss Rand she still has it, when she can get a photographer all out of adjustment."

Fair Visitor, 89 Recalls Fair 40 Years Ago

John B. Wilkens, 89, who lives at 511 West Second was back at the Missouri State Fair this year and he agrees that it certainly does have that new look.

As he recalls, the only balloons that they had at the fair 40 years ago was the kind you ride on. They filled them with gas. Someone rode them up in the air and parachuted to safety. That was a main attraction at the fair. This year they told him they had a dangerous gal, Sally Rand, that was getting all the attention. But he was reinforced that it was fans, not balloons, and that she wasn't dangerous at all.

John Reynolds Eighty Monday

John Reynolds, street merchant, one of Sedalia's most familiar figures, is 80 years old Monday. For 52 years the people of Sedalia have seen him going up and down the streets with his basket on each arm selling oranges, apples, candies and almost anything.

Born in western Cooper county just a short distance from Pettis county on August 27, 1871, Mr. Reynolds' mother died and left him when he was just a baby. His father then took his two sons to Lincoln, Ky., where he reared them. "I grew up in Kentucky," he said, "the state of pretty women and fine horses," but he admitted that there are pretty women in Missouri, too.

He returned to Sedalia on September 23, 1892, where he has since lived and become a favorite of Sedalians. He used to get around all over town peddling his wares but now he stays mostly in the business section, going into offices out and down the street calling out the merchandise he has in his baskets. The children like to buy from his basket and so do grown-ups. He has many regular customers.

John expects to live to be at least a hundred. His family are all well on the way. He has a step-brother 93 years old, a step-sister, 83, a half brother, 76, and his own brother is 82.

Hoover in Iowa Address

DES MOINES, Aug. 30.—(AP)—

Herbert Hoover declared today this nation is experiencing "a cancerous growth of intellectual dishonesty in public life which is mostly beyond the law."

"These evils," the country's only living former president warned in a belated birthday address, "have defeated nations many times in human history. The redemption of mankind by American will depend upon our ability to cope with these evils right here at home."

"In its frustration, the Congress is groping for some sort of remedy, right with the help of the citizen from his own officials. Much as Congress has by good wishes, something stronger than a new code of ethics is needed in America."

"Congress can well widen the laws so as to clutch the new kinds of bribes and benefits they have discovered. But Congress cannot reach intellectual dishonesty."

But, he told residents of his native state in accepting an award, right with the help of the citizen from his own officials. Much as Congress has by good wishes, something stronger than a new code of ethics is needed in America.

Interpreting The News

By FRANK BRUTTO (For J. M. Roberts, Jr.)

ROME, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Two American trips by Premier Alcide De Gasperi—the first in the dark days of 1947, the second forthcoming next month—underline Italy's postwar progress and a partial shift in the burden of the nation's problems.

Then the Christian Democrat leader represented a crippled, defeated nation. Its industry was harassed by strikes. The government's own recovery efforts were hamstrung by the Communists, whose representatives were in the government.

In De Gasperi's ears were the cries of Roman housewives who marched on the viminal government building to ask for food. The premier, then also foreign minister, took to Washington elemental pleas for food, coal, raw materials and money. He got them. He also, it was reported, brought back in his briefcase a copy of the Italian peace treaty.

In his forthcoming trip to Washington, to whom he again goes both as premier and foreign minister, De Gasperi is expected to request the return to Italy of Trieste, for which the Italian press recently has doubled its clamor.

While Italy still needs much economic aid, De Gasperi's Washington talks are expected this time to have a more political aspect than they did in 1947.

The premier recently said Italy can never accede to the barter of Trieste, not even for treaty revision. Any discussion of the subject, he said, must start from the 1948 Western Allies' statement that they favored the return of the Trieste territory to Italy.

Reflecting the economy recovery it has made, Italy today is striving for greater political recognition. Political leaders and writers stress that this is necessary if Italy is to be able to do its full part within the framework of the Atlantic pact.

Back of it is the constant desire—in the past blocked by Russia—for membership in the United Nations.

How much De Gasperi succeeds in obtaining greater political recognition will have a bearing on the survival of his seventh cabinet, formed this month and already described as a "summer-time" cabinet not expected to survive autumn and winter attacks of its opponents.

The crisis and debate that preceded the confidence vote for this cabinet emphasized conflict within the Christian Democrats own ranks as well as the resurgence of Fascism.

Some Christian Democrats think progress in social reforms, especially agrarian reform, has been too slow.

Meanwhile, avowedly Fascist, the Italian social movement (MSI) has made great gains since it garnered 500,000 votes in the 1948 nationwide elections. Its national secretary, Augusto De Marsanich, ascribed the movement's quadrupled vote in this year's elections to "mistaken policies of the government, at home and abroad."

The movement strives to make the catchword of "Trieste" its own and endeavors especially to appeal to youth, aware of the fact that 500,000 of Italy's still 2,000,000 unemployed are youths who have not yet found their first job.

Italy's very recovery, though incomplete, has diminished the fear of Communism that in 1947 and in the elections of 1948 brought De Gasperi's Christian Democrats the support of other anti-Communist political forces in Italy.

De Gasperi's third cabinet in 1947 contained Communists, Socialists, Liberals, Republicans as well as Christian Democrats, his latest contains only Christian Democrats and Republicans.

The premier's gifts as a pacifier have enabled him since 1945 to survive six government crises during a period that has seen 14 changes in the premiership of France.

But if De Gasperi's "summertime" cabinet is to survive the fall and winter attacks of its opponents, some of whom are faithful in the Christian Democrats own ranks, political experts believe Italy will depend partly on the success of the premier's forthcoming American trip.
